North-South Issue Delays Vote On Nominees Convention Reverses Self On Seating Of Virginia Delegates

21-Cent Hike, Modified Union Shop Provided

Washington (AP) — President Truman yesterday dramatically signalled the end of the 53-day steel strike.

Planked by CIO President Philip Murray and President Benjamin Fairless of U.S. Steel, Truman announced that agreement was reached after day-long talks at the White House. He had summoned the top union and industry leaders to meet with him in a supreme effort to end the walkout that had idled nearly two-million Americans and cut deep into defense production.

Both Murray and Fairless were smiling as Truman made the announcement.

Authoritative informants said the agreement calls for a two-year contract, with a little over 21 cents an hour in wage hikes and fringe benefits—plus a modified union shop. The union originally asked a total of slightly more than 26 cents an hour higher pay, and full compulsory union membership.

Present pay averages just under $2 an hour.

In connection with the agreement the government ordered an increase of $5.20 a ton in ceiling prices for common carbon steel, which figures out around $5.64 average when higher priced special steels are counted in. Of that amount $1.66 is specifically allowed to apply to the pay raise.

It is outside the regular stabilization formulas, and is granted for the announced purpose of getting needed production, a device permissible under the law.

The agreement falls short of the Wage Stabilization Board recommendations for which the steel workers had fought. The WSB had proposed a three-stage wage boost amounting to 17 1/2 cents by next year, with another 8 1/2 cents in fringe benefits and the union shop.

Information said the section on the sticky union shop issue, the big stumbling block in past efforts to settle the strike, exempts all present employees who are not members of the union from being compelled to take out a union card.

In addition, it provides all new employees with an "escape" period during the last 15 days of the first month they work. Upon taking a job, an employee must sign an application for union membership. If he fails to notify the company within the 15th to 30th day of employment that he wishes to quit the union, he must stay in.

It further provides a 15-day withdrawal period for all present union members at the end of each contract period.

President Truman's announcement of the agreement came at 5 p.m., seven hours after the Chief Executive had called the two top leaders in the dispute to the White House and virtually read them the riot act.

Bluntly, Truman informed Murray and Fairless that they must settle their differences for the security of the nation.

In surprisingly short order, they did just that.

Quickly following the White House announcement, a spokesman for Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman announced that the government will grant the steel companies a price boost that averages out at $5.64 a ton for their product.

The companies had contended they must raise their prices—despite restrictions of the price controls law—to cover wage increases and other higher operating expenses. Some industry leaders had suggested as much as $12 a ton more.

Steelman said in a statement he had ordered the Economic Stabilization Administration to grant the price hikes "because of the dire need for steel products for defense and for our civilian industry."

15th District Delegates Welcome Mr. Truman To Stevenson Bandwagon; Vote For Virginians

By Peter Olwyler
Delegates from Stroudsburg, Bangor and Easton moved over and made room for President Truman on the Stevenson bandwagon yesterday.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, the Easton delegate, said Pennsylvania was still "doing all right" on Stevenson and added, "I see a possibility he will be named on the first ballot." Pennsylvania backed Stevenson five days ago.

Vice presidential possibilities possibilities lined up as "Russell, Sparkman and Fulbright," in that order," Rep. Walter thought. "There's a possibility Russell can be drafted but he doesn't want to do it (take the vice post). It would have to be a genuine draft."

Yesterday's efforts by the Harriman group, labled a "stop Stevenson" coalition, didn't mean much, Walter said. "Harriman does not control any part of the New York delegation," he added.

$4 Billion Loss Through Steel Strike

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The great steel strike of 1952 goes down in history as the industry's longest and costliest.

During the 53 days of the basic steel walkout, the number of idled grew to almost two million. Including the workers idled in allied and steel-using industries.

Iron Age, an authoritative metal working journal, estimates the strike cost at four billion dollars.

The 600,000 striking members of the CIO United Steelworkers lost an estimated 350 million dollars in wages. Furloughed workers in railroading, coal mining and steel fabricating industries lost uncounted millions more.

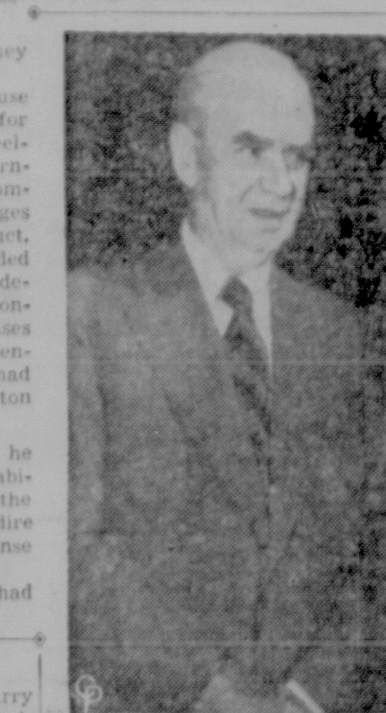

The effect of the walkout on the nation's defense program is hard to gauge but several defense plants were closed. Output of ammunition was particularly hard hit.

The steel strike may cause some after effects which could deal the industry a body blow next winter. Some 23,000 iron ore miners went on strike along with the steelworkers. That stopped shipments of iron ore via the Great Lakes during much of the Summer shipping season.

During the strike, the steel companies could do nothing about building up the usual Summer backlog of iron ore for use next winter when the lakes are frozen over. So the mills may suddenly run out of ore, perhaps next February—and the workers again be thrown into idleness.

Secret Talks Fail

Munsan, Korea (AP) — The Allied command today said the 18 of the record sessions on the truce-blocking issue of war prisoner exchange were "completely fruitless" because the Reds insisted on the return of 116,000 captured Communists. Both sides agreed to resume open meetings tomorrow.

SETTLE STEEL STRIKE — CIO-United Steelworkers President Philip Murray (left) and Benjamin Fairless (right), chairman of U.S. Steel, late yesterday announced settlement of the 53-day-old steel strike which has cost the nation an estimated four billion dollars.

and "It's estimated Stevenson may get 50 votes from New York..."

When the voting would start was another question. Harold C. Edwards, the Stroudsburg delegate, described yesterday's session as "pandemonium." He reviewed the situation just after the convention voted to seat Virginia delegates even if they didn't sign the loyalty pledge.

Pennsylvania went along on the seating by a vote of 57 to 13. Walter, Edwards and Everett Kent of Bangor all voted with the majority.

The wrangle over the seating of Virginia threw the already-delayed proceedings back several more notches.

"The reason for the delay and all the confusion was that there hadn't been any idea of this contest (over seating Virginia) coming up tonight," said Edwards.

"There wasn't a chance for a caucus or a meeting for the delegates to get together on what they wanted to do about it. That's why there were so many vote changes.

"We'll have to recess pretty soon," he said with a touch of weariness. "Most of the delegates have been here since noon... a 10-hour stretch and we haven't even had a chance to adjourn to get something to eat."

"A couple of us managed to fight our way out of the hall to get a ham sandwich for 75 cents but nobody's had a meal," Edwards added. It took him about half an hour to battle his way through the crush of delegates merely to get to a telephone at the rear of the hall.

But there was more business coming up before mealtime: Pennsylvania was slated for a late caucus, he said. Possible reason: Another test to see if support has increased for Stevenson in the Keystone State.

Democratic Platform Bases Hope For November Victory On Prosperity, Peace Claims

Chicago, (AP)—Democrats have dusted off and polished the same weapons they used four years ago to win an upset victory over the Republicans.

The weapons include: Claims that their party has built prosperity on the "economic ruins of Republican bungling" and that it is leading the world to an eventual "peace with honor."

The party expressed confidence, in a bulky platform heavy with self-praise, that these tools would forge another victory next November. The platform was adopted by the party's National Convention early yesterday.

Republicans, in their National Convention here two weeks ago, anticipated the Democratic arguments.

"They (Democrats) claim prosperity," the GOP platform said, "but the appearance of economic health is created by war expenditures, waste and extravagance, planned emergencies, and war crises."

As to Democratic peace claims, the Republicans had this to say:

"We charge that the leaders of the administration in power lost the peace so dearly earned in World War II."

In 1948, the Democrats campaigned on a platform that boasted they had led the nation to the "broadest" prosperity in history. Then, as now, the GOP contended prosperity had a "false" basis provided by government spending.

In 1948, the Democrats said they were putting the United States into the forefront of a world drive for the "four freedoms." Their foes, the Republicans, charged Democratic foreign policy often "lacked competence or consistency."

The outcome of the 1948 ballot battle turned largely on the economic issue, with farmers in the normally-Republican Midwest tipping the scales in favor of President Harry S. Truman over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

So, it's most likely that this year's Democratic campaign will be pitched on this 1952 platform declaration:

"An objective appraisal of the past record clearly demonstrates that the Democratic party has been the chosen American instrument to achieve prosperity, build a stronger democracy, erect the structure of world peace, and continue on the path of progress."

The Democrats, like the Republicans, escaped a threatened convention floor battle this year between Northern and Southern delegates over the civil rights issue.

Lets Dixie Group Stay In Convention

Convention Hall, Chicago (AP)—The Democratic National Convention was thrown into another turmoil early today over a move to keep rebellious South Carolina and Louisiana delegations in the convention.

Convention Hall, Chicago (AP)—In a last-minute surge toward party unity, the Democratic convention reversed itself last night and voted to let the 28-member Virginia delegation remain in the convention.

The Virginians had refused to sign a party loyalty pledge required of all delegates.

Last night's convention action, taken on a 615 to 529 roll call vote (with 86 not recorded), did not directly affect South Carolina and Louisiana, whose delegations also refused—with the exception of three Louisianans — to take the loyalty pledge.

The controversy over Virginia threw the convention into total confusion and greatly delayed the conclusion of nominating speeches.

The vote came after Virginia's Gov. John S. Battle told the convention his state had no intention of keeping the Democratic nominees for President and vice president off the Virginia ballot in the coming election.

Battle insisted, however, it was impossible under Virginia law for the delegates to sign the loyalty pledge which the convention by a previous vote required all delegates to sign.

South Carolina and Louisiana likewise declined to make such a pledge and the Virginia test seemed certain to apply to all three states.

Chairman Sam Rayburn ruled at one point that none of the delegates from the three Southern states could take part in convention actions since they had not signed the required pledges.

The roll call came on a motion by Rep. Lansdale G. Sasser of Maryland that Virginia be allowed to remain in the convention despite Rayburn's ruling.

Sasser said Battle's promise that the Democratic nominees would be on the ballot fulfilled the spirit of the pledge.

HST Spares Killer's Life

Washington, (AP)—The White House announced yesterday President Truman has commuted the death sentence of Oscar Collazo, Blair House assassin, to life imprisonment.

The Puerto Rican, who took part in the shooting in which White House policeman Leslie Coffelt was killed in an attempt on the life of President Truman Nov. 1, 1950, was slated to die in the electric chair here Aug. 1.

Announcement of the commutation of the death sentence was made by Presidential Secretary Joseph Short without further comment.

Pentagon Left Without Water

Washington, (AP)—There were about 30,000 thirsty people yesterday in the Pentagon, the world's biggest office building. Water was virtually cut off from the defense headquarters in nearby Arlington, Va., after a water valve broke in Northwest Washington.

Drinking fountains were dry. All sanitation facilities were without water.

South Dakota Delegation Bolts Convention Briefly

Convention Hall, Chicago (AP) — An Adlai Stevenson boom rocketed the Illinois governor toward the presidential nomination last night and the forces powering it put on a desperate winning battle to keep Virginia in the Democratic National Convention.

In retaliation, six of the eight delegates in the South Dakota delegation that is pledged to Sen. Estes Kefauver bolted the floor of the convention—but only for a matter of minutes.

It was a scene of tension, drama and suspense in which Democrats interrupted the process of candidate picking for a solid three hours of roistering, furious fighting over the North-South issue of a party loyalty oath.

Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House and chairman of the convention, had ruled sorrowfully that Virginia—and Louisiana and South Carolina—could not vote in the convention until they took the loyalty pledge.

That's a promise to return home and work to get the party candidates on state ballots. All but three from Louisiana, with two votes among them, refused to do that.

Virginia made it known that the party nominees, by law, will be on the November ballot in the old dominion state.

Maryland proposed that on that basis Virginia delegates be allowed to stay on in the feuding convention.

It took a roll call—a ballot such as seldom has been seen on a convention floor—to decide the issue.

At one point, enough votes had been cast to keep Virginia from taking part in the convention decisions. But Stevenson forces went to work and delegation after delegation was persuaded to switch or alter its vote.

Illinois-Stevenson's home state—at first had voted largely against the motion to recognize Virginia. Then it led the change-over, in a strategy move designed to give the cue to other Stevenson strongholds.

There was stalling and time killing. There were polls of individual delegations that allowed breathing space for Stevenson backers to work on holdouts.

Rayburn ruled that the three Louisianans still left in the convention could cast all 20 votes the state originally had, unless one of the members challenged the absence of a quorum.

Kefauver lieutenants in South Dakota saw the trend and who was behind it.

The South Dakota chairman arose and announced that the delegation was taking a walk in "protest against the grossly unfair methods of the chairman."

The South Dakotans yanked their state banner out of its standard and paraded out a rear door. A bit later they paraded back again, then six of the eight left once more.

They had tried to get recognition from Rayburn. He stared stonily and turned away.

Rayburn, veteran of many a convention squabble and presiding officer of the U. S. House of Representatives, had told the assembled delegates that never before in his life has "anybody ever challenged my fairness."

Eventually, after a roll call that took well over two hours, the results were announced: 615 to let Virginia operate in the convention, 529 against, with 86 not counted.

At about that time, Kefauver, accompanied by Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, suddenly moved from the nearby Stockyard Inn to the convention building.

They went into a workroom not far from the convention floor.

As they walked toward the entrance, Douglas and Kefauver stopped to shake hands with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York.

"Go get 'em, Estes," said Powell. And Douglas was heard to say:

"They've made a deal with the Dixiecrats."

On the convention floor, Rayburn set the roll call of the states in motion once more, asking for presence.

Tremendous, madhouse demonstrations and the oratory of the man-who-nominating speeches rolled through the convention hall all afternoon and into the night.

In the nominating melee went the names of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, Averell Harriman and many secondary contenders.

Roberts Seeks His Release From Prison

Wilkes-Barre, (AP)—A 46-year-old machinist charged with the pistol slaying of his wife last June 10 declared yesterday through an attorney he will seek a writ of habeas corpus to obtain his release from custody.

Jonah L. Roberts, of Edwardsville, steadily maintained his innocence. Atty. Frank Slatery Jr. contended Roberts has been illegally detained by authorities.

Roberts has claimed he and his wife while driving toward Scranton picked up two hitch-hikers in front of Laurel Line railroad station, that they forced him to drive to a lonely road, and that one of them shot his wife when she resisted his advances.

Roberts was questioned Tuesday night by State police, and the grilling continued a day later at Roberts' own request.

Dist. Atty. Louis G. Feldmann said some of Roberts' statements as to what happened on the night of the slaying "were not in accordance with the investigation conducted by the officer."

Roberts was formally charged with murder Wednesday night before Justice of the Peace W. Howell Evans of Wyoming, then removed to Luzerne County prison to await grand jury action.

Summerfield To Manage Ike Campaign

Denver (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced yesterday that GOP National Chairman Arthur Summerfield will serve as the Republican presidential nominee's campaign manager.

Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., the general's executive assistant coupled the announcement at a news conference with word that Summerfield and five other key figures in the Eisenhower campaign organization will come here next week for conferences with the general.

These sessions will be in addition to one previously announced—Sunday's meeting of the general and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

Balloting On Candidates Set Early Today

DuPont, 71, Succumbs To Heart Ailment

New London, Conn., (AP)—Lammot Du Pont, for 22 years the guiding hand of the vast multi-million dollar E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., one of the world's greatest chemical companies, died yesterday of heart disease.

The 71-year-old industrialist, who participated in the development of the atom bomb, helped supply America's armed forces with munitions in World War Two, and sponsored the development of nylon, succumbed in a hospital here after a month's illness.

Dr. Edward Gipslein, a heart specialist who attended the retired president and board chairman of the Du Pont interests, announced that the Wilmington, Del., native entered the hospital on July 11 after falling ill at his summer home on Fishers Island. The illness had prevented him from attending the company's 150th anniversary celebration last Friday.

Lammot was the eighth member of his family and the third brother in succession to head the chemical company founded by his great grandfather. He was instrumental in the development of Du Pont from a small black powder factory to one of industry's giants of all time.

Glossary Of Terms Used At Political Conventions

Here's a list of words being tossed about on the airwaves nowadays. If you haven't heard them your radio burned out or someone's run off with your TV aerial.

At any rate, when the politics pass out these phrases, here's what they really mean:

Steamroller: A move to get the opponent nominated.

Grassroots Movement: A move to get your own man nominated.

Dark Horse: In politics, the man who walks off with both coats when two street fighters knock each other cold.

Fearless: A man who will admit the ugly truth about his opponent.

Graft: Shoes you'd rather have on your own bare feet than see on your opponent's.

Patronage: A handout for lending a hand at the right moment.

Bandwagon: A vehicle you get aboard when you can't drive your own team of horses.

Hearquarters: Where you go to find out what a candidate wants you to do.

Caucus: Public introspection accompanied by sweat, tears and no blood.

Nomination: What a well-bred politician can sometimes get by loafing.

Although light is often thought of as including only visible rays, there are invisible rays such as ultra-violet and infra-red which act in the same manner as light and are often called light.

Advance in Marketing

Word comes from New York City of a revolutionary move, considered as entirely foreign heretofore, in the food trade.

A central buying office has been opened for the purchase of non-food items for distribution through large retail chain and independent grocery stores.

Food industry spokesmen have hailed the formation of the new agency as a move which has long been needed to streamline distribution and ease procurement problems of retailers. So many supermarkets now stock so many items such as toys, soft goods, hosiery, housewares, plastics and books, it was pointed out, that they have the appearance of small department stores. This type of goods thus is becoming more and more an essential part of their daily merchandising.

Heretofore, purchases have been made, it was explained, through jobbers; but under the new plan, purchase orders will be placed through the central office with the manufacturers, with deliveries made direct to the retailers. Retailers pay a monthly membership fee, it was pointed out, and the arrangement eliminates the commission to the middleman.

The resultant savings are expected to be carried on down to the consumer; and observers feel that if this first cooperative group is successful, others will follow.

Safer Mines

Federal mine inspectors now may shut down unsafe coal mines, under a bill approved by Congress and signed into law by President Truman last week.

Thus ends, temporarily, a long fight over state vs. federal regulation of coal mines. There was considerable opposition to giving federal mine inspectors power to close mines, now held solely by state inspectors. And this issue will crop up again.

U. S. Bureau of Mines inspectors for years have had the power to inspect mines and make recommendations for improving safety conditions. Until now, their powers were merely advisory, and the duty of enforcement rested on the various states.

The push to extend the powers of federal inspectors originated from two tragic mine disasters in Illinois. In each case, recommendations of federal inspectors had been ignored and the state was charged with laxity in enforcement of mine regulations.

Fortunately, Pennsylvania has had no such disasters in recent years. This state, where coal mining originated in this country, has had long and bloody experience with mine disasters. It now has what is accounted to be the strictest and most effective mine inspection program of any state.

Had other states kept pace, there would have been no reason for this small extension of federal powers. Perhaps also there would have been no such disasters as these in Illinois—although coal mining is a hazardous occupation at best.

The fact that federal inspectors now may close mines in which they find imminent danger of loss of life, should not be taken to mean that safety is assured in the mines.

There still will be plenty of work for the state inspectors, in identifying and eliminating the conditions which may cost lives. And there will always be the need for constant vigilance on the part of management and the men who work underground.

Chicago, July 23 — So-called Liberal Congressional Democrats, led by Sen. Blair Moody and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., have extracted loyalty pledges from convention delegates.

Can it be presumed that they will return to Washington with loud demands for loyalty pledges from government employees?

In the past, both have been active in opposing legislation requiring federal workers to swear allegiance to the U.S.A. in preference to Soviet Russia. So it would seem the answer to the above question is, illogically, no.

Moody and Roosevelt, of course, have merely been mouthpieces for the CIO and Americans for Democratic Action in shoving the political loyalty pledge down the throats of delegates here. So it is even more to the point when the stand of those two organizations on government loyalty pledges is examined.

The ADA has consistently attacked demands by the Congress, state governments and universities for loyalty pledges from employees. The idea of asking anyone to publicly state a preference for America over Russia has consistently brought howls of anguish from this silly collection of New Deal refugees.

The ADA, however, usually tries to duck the Red issue by shouting that it is an insult to question any man about his beliefs on any issue. In fact, some ADA officials insist that anyone has a right to work for the government, and that the government has no more right to inquire into a man's allegiance to his country than it has to inquire into his religious affiliations.

The CIO has been just as giddy on the loyalty issue. It naturally opposed the anti-Communist drive in the Taft-Hartley labor law until public exposure that its unions were riddled with Reds forced labor leaders to alter their views slightly. They did it begrudgingly. They still stick their noses into college campuses where university boards are trying to clean out the Communists by demanding loyalty pledges.

What is the difference between a pledge requiring a man to swear allegiance to a political machine and one requiring him to swear allegiance to his country? Which is more important? Moody and Roosevelt probably will have an opportunity to answer publicly in the near future. Congress is considering legislation requiring an oath of loyalty from its own members and

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Outline Of The Campaign
We, who listened to Governor Paul A. Dever's keynote speech on radio and television, heard it to greater advantage than those who were in the convention hall.

It was an important document, spoken with what used to be called elevation but without eloquence.

On television, it was possible to note that the delegates were not listening to it. I telephoned on Tuesday morning. An important delegate said to me: "The noise around me was so loud that I could not hear him clearly. I have set the speech aside to read." I heard every word of it on television.

I am sure that the Republican strategists were following Governor Dever's speech closely because it is the outline of the forthcoming campaign. It laid down the line.

Unfortunately, the emotionalism which undoubtedly won Governor Dever acclaim in his personal campaigns for office in Massachusetts, sounded funny on television and looked even worse. This is a frightening instrument. However, the delegates were not watching television; they were looking at a live show and were supposed to be listening to instructions right out of the mule's mouth. But too many of them did not listen. Why did they go to the convention?

The gist of the instructions may be summarized as follows:

1. Attack Eisenhower, Herbert Hoover and Tom Dewey;

2. Say that Eisenhower knows nothing about administering the affairs of the United States; say that he initiated nothing as Commander-in-Chief in World War II, but carried out the orders of Franklin D. Roosevelt; say that he did nothing on his own in NATO, only carrying out the orders of Harry S. Truman;

3. Say that Eisenhower is a tool of the reactionary Wall Street elements in the Republican Party, that the voice is Ike's but the hands are Thomas's, meaning Tom Dewey;

4. Compare economic conditions in this country in 1932 with those in 1952, and establish that labor, the farmer, the business man is now better off than he was in the Hoover Administration. Hook up Eisenhower with Hoover to Ike's disadvantage;

5. Say that Roosevelt won the war and Truman arrested the Communist advantage. Denounce Communism at home and abroad;

6. Say that the object of the Korean War was to restore the parallel and that that has been accomplished;

7. Pile up data to show how every body got a handout from the Democratic Party and ask if they will bite the hand that feeds them;

8. Denounce John Foster Dulles;

9. Do not refer to the bipartisan foreign policy but claim every victory and benefit in Europe or Asia for Roosevelt and Truman;

10. Favor the FEPC all you like.

This then is to be a fighting campaign and Eisenhower is to be shown no mercy. Governor Dever did not mention Eisenhower by name, but he described him fully as a tool of Wall Street. He also did not mention MacArthur whom he attacked while he praised General Omar Bradley as a sort of genius.

If this is to be the nature of the campaign, it will be necessary for the Republicans to work out a strategy which can meet the Democratic onslaught on their candidate. Republicans like to believe that they can shout, "throw the rascals out." Dever dealt with corruption and said that the crooks have been cleared out, which may or may not be so.

Dever did indicate that the Republicans cannot do much about the foreign policy and he read from Tom Dewey's recent book on Asia establishing that Dewey approves of the Korean policy of the Administration. Before this campaign is over, the Democrats will be giving away Dewey's book as campaign literature, helping their cause no end.

Dever also defended the budget with its 85 per cent for military expenses. He challenged the Republicans to show where the budget can be cut. The Republicans will have to try to meet that challenge during the campaign because the Democrats will obviously press the point. Unfortunately, the Republican platform has to a great degree accepted the Administration's policies; therefore, they must accept the cost of administering those policies.

The Democrats have carefully laid their lines and now the Republicans can either take a battering at their hands or the offensive and go after corruption. In a word, the Republicans must muddle or they will have little to say. This seems to have become the challenge of this speech.

Strunsky's answer is worth remembering. "People who want to understand democracy," he said, "should spend less time in the library with Aristotle and more time in the rush hour in the subway."

Hollywood—Things were humming along at Gene Autry's studio the other day. The singer-cowboy dramatizes the leisurely old West, on half-hour television films, with the efficiency of modern big business.

Gene sat at a telegraph key, clicking out a sound track. He sent real Morse code, by the way which he remembers from his days as an Oklahoma railroad telegrapher.

Scenes were shot mostly in one take. Autry, in cowboy attire including six guns, buzzed off at one point to attend a conference in one of the building's 23 offices. The conference was on a just-started series of TV films called "Death Valley Days."

He already turns out in batches of four at a time, the films which star him and the "Range Rider" series starring Jack Mahoney. In addition, Autry does six theater movies a year plus his weekly radio show. He took up golf a while back, but friends say his only real hobby is work.

His television films are produced in a neat, brown stucco building on Sunset Boulevard across from Hollywood High School. The structure, a reared supermarket, is also the nerve center for his many sidelines including rodeo tours, oil wells, radio stations, and ranches. His commercial tie-ups range from billboards and balloons to belts, bags, buttons, badges, boots and bedspreads.

I asked Gene what lessons he had learned in producing 110 TV films in two years. Mob scenes are unnecessary, he said, because there isn't room for them on home screens. Black shirts are

I suppose everybody is proud of his own State.

There must be a lot of things about Mississippi, Arkansas, South Dakota, Montana, and the other 44 that we don't see and therefore don't appreciate.

But I believe that we citizens of Connecticut have particular reason to be proud of our little State.

To illustrate it, I have to go back to the Fourth of July once more.

Over that weekend—as you undoubtedly have read—563 persons were killed, more than in Korea during the same period.

Of those, 326 died in automobile accidents.

Every State had its quota. But in Connecticut only ONE person died in an automobile accident.

Isn't that something to be proud of?

This record was not established just by chance.

WE IN CONNECTICUT PLANNED IT THAT WAY.

For days and days before the Fourth our broadcasting stations warned us to drive safely.

For days our newspapers told us not to be fools.

And here comes the most effective preventive of all.

Our State Police Commissioner Edward Hickey, who has rightfully been in office more years than anyone remembers, had every one of his men out patrolling the Merritt Parkway and other main roads during the holiday weekend and if anybody ever tried to argue with a Connecticut State police officer, he knows what that means.

On the Merritt Parkway, the main thoroughfare between New York and New England, there wings, posted by the Shuberts to make sure Winchell didn't crash backstage, and Harpo led the columnist past the guard serenely, saying "My double—part of the act, you know."

So it was from the wings that Winchell watched "Cocanuts," until right near the final curtain, when he hurried back to the dressing room, climbed through a window and vanished into the throngs of Broadway. The next morning the Mirror carried a lavish review of the show and, presumably, Lee and Jake Shubert stomped up and down all day, slowly acquiring ulcers.

Convention Influence on the Home — Wife: what would you like for breakfast, dear?

Husband — I will go along with the party program. Further than that I do not wish to say much at this time.

Wife: The gentleman must record his preference in this matter. I make a motion that we have ham and eggs.

Husband: The lady is fully aware that I am committed to griddle cakes and sausage and must hold to that position, at least until it is apparent that cakes and sausages have no chance.

Wife: I do not concede that the gentleman is stating the situation correctly here. The record will show that he has been a lifelong supporter of ham and eggs.

Husband: I challenge that statement. Look up my attitude in 1944 and 1948.

Wife: Oh, the minutes will show that you balked affirmative action on them by a policy 12 which you were noncommittal on the issue of whether you wanted them sunny side up or turned over lightly. Your attitude prevented any action.

Junior: I rise to a point of order. In the interest of harmony let us admit that there is but one all-important issue before us, the issue of getting breakfast. Let us go forward with clear heads and high hearts.

Wife: You will be limited to three minutes on this matter.

Junior: I plead for better understanding and more tolerant attitudes. The situation calls for compromise. Let us not split the

Authorities Absolve Trooper In Fatal Shooting Of Noss

D. A. Concurs In Verdict Of Coroner

A coroner's verdict was issued yesterday that the death of Raymond C. Noss, 28, at Craigs Meadows hotel Wednesday resulted from "a bullet fired by Officer Peter Walsh in the line of duty."

District Attorney Elmer D. Christine said he concurred in the verdict of Coroner W. E. Andrew.

The investigation has been completed, and the case closed, Christine said, "in view of the fact that the officer shot this man in line of duty in order to apprehend a fleeing felon."

Larceny, Mr. Christine pointed out, is a felony in Pennsylvania.

The Hazleton man was wounded fatally by a single bullet about 1:30 p.m. Wednesday while trying to run away. Walsh shouted "Halt!" at least a half dozen times before firing, witnesses told State police investigators.

Noss had taken the car of Stanley Van Vleet, Buck Hill Falls, Insurance man, from its parking place in front of the Indian Queen Hotel on Main St., Stroudsburg, a few minutes before 1:15 p.m.

Van Vleet was standing on Main St. when he spotted Noss driving his car in the direction of East Stroudsburg. The insurance man reported the theft to Pfc. Ed Benesi at the Stroudsburg station and a radio alert was sent out.

Walsh was in a patrol car in East Stroudsburg. When he heard the radio message, he recalled seeing the cream-colored car go by five minutes earlier. He pursued the vehicle, caught up with it about 30 seconds after Noss had pulled in at the Craigs Meadows hotel to "get a drink," police said.

Walsh got out of his car. Noss began running toward the rear of the hotel. The trooper repeatedly ordered him to halt and fired when he refused.

Christine said yesterday a check had revealed the fact that Noss had a lengthy criminal record listing some 10 offenses, of which "about half" were termed serious by the district attorney.

Mr. Christine said the Hazleton man had been "in and out of jail" since 1945. Some of the offenses for which he was arrested on previous occasions included statutory rape, larceny, car thefts, parole violation and inebriation.

Noss' father has been dead for many years, according to Mr. Christine. Noss' mother, Margaret, of 28 S. Wyoming St., Hazleton, identified her son's body. Christine said she evidenced little surprise at her son's death, and indicated she had expected some such outcome to result from Noss' escapades.

The body was transferred to the Boyle funeral home, Hazleton, pending services. Noss was a member of St. Gabriel's Church in that city.

Surviving in addition to his mother, is a brother, William, of Wilkes-Barre.

Man Shoots Wife, Self

Emmaus (AP)—A 33-year-old man shot and killed his wife yesterday and then committed suicide in the couple's two-room frame home, state police reported.

Stephen Tomasovic fatally shot himself with a .22-caliber rifle, they said, minutes after killing his wife, Geraldine, 25, with the same weapon. Mrs. Tomasovic was shot through the head and died instantly. Tomasovic died shortly after, a bullet through his heart.

Neighbors told authorities the woman had left her husband last Friday and was believed to be living in Allentown. She returned Wednesday to get some clothing, they said, and the shooting occurred early yesterday.

Police said the only witness was a 4-year-old nephew, George Tomasovic, also of Emmaus, who was staying at the house overnight.

A neighbor, Mrs. Robert Derr, was awakened by the child who ran to her home shouting, "Stevie shot Jerry."

103 Pints Of Blood Contributed

Blood—103 pints of it—was contributed yesterday at the Elks Home in East Stroudsburg between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Most of the 110 volunteers (there were seven rejected among them) came from 10 resort or industrial organizations. In addition, there were 10 "walk-in" donors who stopped simply because they saw the bloodmobile out front or knew donations were being taken yesterday.

One of them, a man, was questioned by an official as he left the place. "Why'd you come in?" he was asked. "Was it in response to our advertising, or what? Stories about the bloodmobile?"

The man, about 35, said it was none of these things.

A foundry worker with a job in Bethlehem, he had just been on his way to work when he saw the bloodmobile parked out front and decided to stop and make a donation.

"I was in World War Two. I spent about four years in service. For 18 months I was a medic—and I know what it is to need blood and not have it."

The organizations which sent donors yesterday were Oak Grove House, Pocono Manor, Penn-Stroud Hotel, Blue Mountain Camp, Camp Karanac, Shawnee Inn, Nova House Co., Bell Telephone Co., Strickland's Mountain Inn and Vacation Valley.

Transportation was provided by the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Groups are slated for more donations at the Elks club Aug. 13—and next time the quota will be higher.

To make up for a slightly low collection yesterday, the quota next month will be 147 pints. The average monthly quota is set at 125 pints, the yearly quota at 1,500 pints.

Motion For New Trial Rejected

A motion for new trial in a rape case involving a 16-year-old East Stroudsburg girl and three Philadelphia men was denied this week in an order by Northampton County court en banc.

The Philadelphia men were convicted last year of raping the girl in a parked automobile near Portland in February last year.

Defense counsel had claimed there was insufficient evidence for conviction. The court disagreed, said there was "abundant testimony."

The defendants are Joseph M. Jones, Joseph G. Rafter and Thomas T. Sines, all 21 years old. They face maximum penalties of $5,000 fines and 15 years' imprisonment.

St. Ann's Catholic Church To Mark 25th Anniversary Sunday At Pontifical Mass

Tobyhanna—St. Ann's Catholic Church will mark the 25th anniversary of its consecration this Sunday with a pontifical mass to be celebrated by Bishop William J. Hefey of the Scranton diocese at 10:30 a.m.

A banquet has been arranged for visiting clergymen, all former pastors and assistant pastors of the church, including Rt. Rev. Msgr. Connel A. McHugh, Msgr. Dennis Kane, Hazleton, Rev. James Collins, CSSR, and Rev. Aloysius T. Boylan.

A conducted tour of the Tobyhanna Signal Depot has been arranged.

Although St. Ann's is only 25 years old, Father Jordan said, its roots can be traced back 65 years to the establishment of the first mission there by priests from Dunmore.

In those days Tobyhanna was the center of Catholicism in the Pocono Mountains, when the priest traveled from Dunmore and later, from Moscow, on a backboard wagon or astride a horse. As the number of Catholics increased in the region, land was cleared and a small church, St. James, was built, with Rev. Gerald McMurray as the first pastor.

As the ice and lumbering industries increased and the church became inadequate, plans were made to erect another. Father Jordan noted, St. Ann's was built with funds donated by Mrs. Annie C. Willis as a memorial to her husband, Robert C. Willis, and her brother, Rev. J. J. Coroner, under the supervision of Rev. John O'Malley, first pastor. The rectory was financed by contributions from members of the parish and benefactors. Besides Father O'Malley, pastors who have served there are Rev. John J. Gough, Rev. Aloysius Boylan, and presently, Rev. George J. Jordan.

The sermon at the pontifical mass will be delivered by Rev. Myles Whelan, C.P., St. Joseph's Monastery, Baltimore, Md., a former member from the parish. At night Rev. Thomas P. Monahan, also formerly from the parish, will celebrate benediction at 8 and Msgr. Kane will preach the sermon. Other members of the parish who have entered the religious life include Sister Mary Denise, IHM, the former Catherine Monahan; Sister Mary Christine, IHM, the former Kathleen Clarkin; Rev. John Grady, Richmond Diocese; and Rev. William P. Sherman, retired.

St. Ann's has expanded through the years to the extent that it now embraces four mission churches in addition to the mother church: St. Rita's, Gouldsboro; St. Mary Magdalen, South Sterling; Our Lady of the Lake, Pocono Pines, and Sacred Heart Chapel, Camp Tegawitha.

Volunteers killed the blaze before any damage was done to the bungalow.

held out for a price raise limit of $2.84, the amount allowed under the Capehart amendment to the economic controls act. That amendment provides for higher ceilings to reflect cost increases up to last July 26.

Truman's announcement was quickly relayed to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, where Chairman Sam Rayburn read it to the delegates. A tremendous outburst of cheers greeted the news.

The President personally told newsmen of the peace pact. He said Fairless and Murray "have just advised me that six major steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America have reached agreement on important basic issues."

Truman added: "This should lead to a speedy resumption of steel production."

The President announced that Murray is calling his 170-man Wage Policy Committee to meet this morning to ratify the agreement.

Housing Bids To Be Sought In September

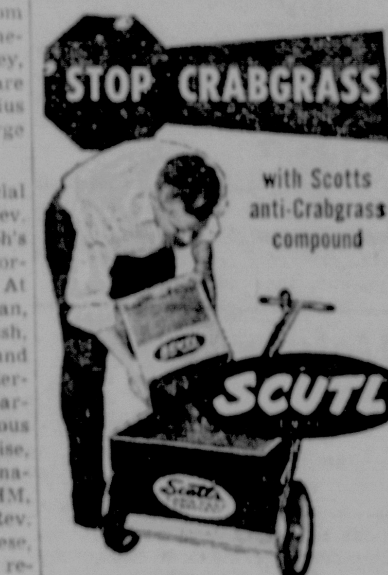

The Philadelphia District, Corps of Engineers has announced in a recent construction bulletin that bids will be sought on the 200-family-unit Wherry housing project on the $33,000,000 Signal Depot about Sept. 22.

Rinker & Kiefer, Stroudsburg, are architect engineers on the housing development which is being created for custodial personnel subject to 24-hour duty call in connection with the operation of the depot facilities.

It was earlier estimated that the 200-family housing development consisting of some 14 buildings would cost about $1,800,000.

Under terms of the Wherry Act, this project will be erected by private capital with FHA guarantee of the mortgage. The sponsor, who will also be the contractor who presents the best bid, will have the site on the depot leased to him by the Army at a nominal fee for a 75-year period with a 50-year recovery clause in favor of the federal government.

Site selected for the housing project is on the old parade grounds of the former Tobyhanna Military Reservation, now a part of the general depot site.

Heat Wave Broken By Cool Mass

The quality of mercy was not strained yesterday—at least so far as the weatherman was concerned. After a two-week siege of high pressure cookery, broiled and embattled Monroe County settled down to an enjoyment of a 10-degree dip in temperatures.

From 95 degrees on the preceding day, Stroudsburg's mercury scooped downward to an afternoon high of 85 exactly ten degrees cooler.

A night-time low of 70 degrees was also set for the two boroughs.

The lower temperatures resulted, weathermen said, from a "cold air front" moving down from the Canadian border.

This time there was no heavy, hot-air mass hovering below Pennsylvania to block the cooler temperatures.

A thick, impenetrable mass of wet air which had stalled off all other cold air fronts moving down from the north during the past two weeks had, by Wednesday, disappeared giving the Canadian air currents a chance to settle down for a while and "do some good."

Yesterday's relief from the record-breaking heat wave came not so instant too soon for most residents of the twin Stroudsburg boroughs.

Following Wednesday night's cooling breezes and the moderate temperatures of the day, most office-workers and factory employees were ready to admit that they might get through the summer.

Scattered thunderstorms brought relief throughout the rest of Pennsylvania Wednesday night.

The ten-degree drop in temperatures noted for Monroe County was the general rule throughout the State.

According to national weather forecasters at the Weather Bureau offices in Washington, D. C., the moderate temperatures will continue through today.

Proprietors Of Ninth Street Diner Celebrate Anniversary

By James B. Gaffney

"Waiters come and waiters go. George has flat feet and Nick's too slow."

This kind of humor and mutual chiding is responsible largely for the success of two affable men who Sunday marked their 30th year in business at one location and who are celebrating 33 years as partners.

George Metropoulos and Nicholas Russopolis met quite accidentally in New York City just after World War One and their idea of unity soon became a reality.

A mutual friend, Cornelius Caldes introduced the pair and his brother, Aristos came to Monroe County with the men to start a lunch business. Aristos stayed with the men for about six months, then returned to New York. Today he operates a real estate agency on Long Island.

George spent six years in Minnesota as cook for a lumber camp and when the culinary adeptness was brought out in conversation some 35 years ago, the decision to unite was made.

After staying in East Stroudsburg for three years the men bought "Betsy," famed trolley car that traversed local streets, and converted it to a lunch center. After six years "Betsy" was found unsatisfactory and they moved into their new Lackawanna Trail Diner. But the men have been at their 207 N. 9th St. location in Stroudsburg for 30 years in all.

Both men were born in Greece. George came to this country in 1907 and Nicholas followed three years later. Both were in the Army during World War Two.

Nick and his wife live at 227 N. 9th St. They have two daughters, Ann, a teacher at Stroudsburg High School and Georgia, student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

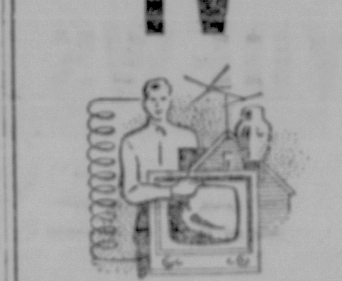

George resides next to the diner. His son, George, physical education instructor at the local YMCA and daughter, Eleanor are at home. Another daughter, Mrs. Bernard Frantz lives in Port Jervis.

Max Stadfeld, manager of the local J. C. Penney Co. store, has announced the appointment of a new department manager and the addition of two new sales women.

Mrs. Regina VanOver who has been with the firm for 11 years will head the girls' department.

Driver Leaps From Burning Truck; Unhurt

Mount Pocono—A 25-year-old truck driver leaped from his flaming truck just south of here yesterday morning escaping injury as the burning vehicle crashed into a mountain and was completely demolished.

State police of the sub-station here said John Farigone of 2042 Cedar Ave., Scranton, told them he was traveling south on Route 611 at 4:30 a.m. Just south of the borough, after driving through the underpass of the DL&W Railroad, he said his 1947 model tractor-trailer truck began to gain momentum. He told police he lost the vehicle's transmission at the foot of the sloping hill and sparks from the transmission ignited the gasoline tank.

Pointing the burning truck toward the embankment, Farigone jumped from the cab as the vehicle plowed into the mountain. Mount Pocono Volunteer Fire Co. was summoned and extinguished the flames.

The truck owned by Albert Nivert & Co., of Scranton, valued at about $2500, was listed as a complete loss. It had been carrying scrap metal.

Boy Suffers Head Injury; Police Report Shows He Darted Into Side Of Car

A three-year-old boy was treated for head lacerations and bruise in Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, yesterday morning after being struck by an automobile on N. Fifth St., in Stroudsburg.

Dr. Richard Stemmler used two stitches to close a cut on the head of Lee Stump, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stump, and the young boy was discharged after treatment.

According to Stroudsburg police, the boy dashed from behind a parked car at 9:35 a. m. near the corner of Scott and N. Fifth Sts., and was thrown into the gutter by the impact of the right side of the car's front bumper. He passed in front of the car and had almost reached the curb when struck.

Kenneth Leonard Nielsen, 20, of Staten Island, driving a car of Pine Brook Camp, said the child crossed from east to west. Nielsen was traveling south. The boy resides with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Singer, 312 Wallace St., Stroudsburg. Mrs. Singer and a passing motorist, Lawrence Kitchen, 65 Brown St., Stroudsburg, took the child to the hospital.

Tobyhanna Blouse Plant Hiring Additional Help

The fifty-first of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here, how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

An appeal for employees, both experienced sewing machine operators and learners has been issued by one Monroe County industry—Seasonal Sportswear Co. of Tobyhanna.

Manufacturers of women's blouses, the firm is owned by two Pen Argyl brothers, John and Ernest Cali and began operations in Tobyhanna in January, 1950.

"We need women workers badly," John said. He noted the working conditions of the plant, pointing to the modern equipment, large windows, lighting and said "we also have music while you work."

Now employing 30 persons and making a weekly payroll contribution of $2400, Seasonal Sportswear is located in a two-story building with basement facilities set for expansion "ready to be placed into operation if we get more workers," John Cali said.

Employees come from Tobyhanna, Pocono Lake and Gouldsboro. Some are transported to the plant by a station wagon operated by the firm, while others make the daily trip in their own automobiles.

Although the cutting operation is done in Pen Argyl and New York City, all other production occurs in Tobyhanna where the attractive blouses are even packaged and shipped to New York for distribution all over the country.

Called an apparel contracting firm because it produces only on contract by nationally known blouse corporations, the mill makes rayon, cotton and nylon blouses in all colors, plaids and prints.

At the present time production is centered on long sleeved fall blouses. The productivity in the winter months reverts to summer sales.

Both single and double needle work is done here. With 50 machines, including a number in reserve, the operations continue round-the-clock and employees work on a piece-time basis.

The brothers own the building 25 feet by 60 feet, they now occupy. Formerly they were located across the street in another structure for about one year.

Operations include sewing and making the variety of sections that go into a completed blouse.

The collars, pockets and sleeves each are sewed and stitched separately before moving to the trimmer, examiner, presser and packer. Buttons also are sewed on by machine and the latest equipment is utilized to speed up production.

"Ain't
this a
idea?"

I mean bein' able to get a loaf a' bread — any time you feel like it — that's just like the kind of bread that we had when we was kids. Real honest bread — no fancy talk or ten letter ingredients — just good pure makin's that ended up as a loaf that everybody went for — soon as it was set on the table.

Well, now, I got news for you. You can have this here same loaf that I been talkin' about and you been thinkin' about. I say same because it's made from a receipt that's been part a' my family for quite a spell. My Mother give it to me — I improved it with a secret of my own — and now I made up my mind I'm gonna stop bein' secret-like about it and let you try it.

This kinda bread has got a thing about it that's real "teeth sinkin'". Why, your children'll eat anything you put between two slices of it. There's a special fixin' into it that gives it a flavor that tastes like more — and that's the trick. I'm seein' to it that you can have as much of AUNT FANNY'S ENRICHED BREAD as you like — and, neighbor, you're bound to like it.

You just get a loaf of AUNT FANNY'S ENRICHED BREAD and see for yourself if I don't mean what I say.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Appetites revived and many a housewife who's been coaxing her family to "eat even if you don't feel like it," found herself running short on almost everything last night as a day of effervescent air and white cotton clouds perked up human spirits.

If the weather could remember just how he did that, he might renew the order. Sort of like gold though. After a shot so good that even you are surprised, you think "Well, now, see how simple it is. All I have to do is just the same things—". But it doesn't work that way.

However, with such weather, nobody seemed to be minding their scores too much, at least at Glen Brook Ladies' Day.

Now that the heat has broken, at least temporarily, maybe we can report the conversation overheard one blistering day this week when the sun was so hot it burned your flesh as if it were coming through a magnifying glass.

The conversation was something about a Biblical quotation about "the last days" when the sun should scorch the earth. I recalled it particularly on Wednesday night when that freak gust of wind blew out of the still hot night—setting the trees to frantic motion.

There was something end-of-the-worldish about that wind—coming out of the night without apparent reason, with no clouds, and only the distant heat lightning dimming the stars that stood so steadfast in all the commotion.

Seemed that even the humans had their hair standing on end like the cat's as they went out to see what was happening. It was the same sort of frightened elation you feel when the strange road you're following seems to end at the sky-line, and that once at the crest you'll drive straight off the earth.

Or before the first big dip on a roller coaster, maybe.

CLOSING DAY AT THE Vacation Bible School held at the Fifth St. Mission showed many of the children who attended the two week school. Graduates were Estelle Mitchell, who had attended five years; Daniel Marvin, 6 years; Charles MacNeal, five years; and Theodore Barry, 6 years. This year there were 135 children enrolled, and an average attendance of 116.

Fire Co. Aux. Reports Share In Carnival

Tannersville — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Co., has reported on their share in the recent carnival, showing successful results in all of their departments. They sold fancy work and baked goods, and sponsored a grabbag for children and a white elephant sale for adults.

Under a new plan inaugurated this year, women from the various sections were in charge on designated nights, and the plan was reported to have worked most efficiently.

Mrs. Frances Beseker, president of the organization, was high in her praise of the effort of individual members.

The auxiliary is now busy with plans for a benefit party to be held on August 11. They are soliciting cakes and merchandise to be awarded the winners in the games.

Further details of the party will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the auxiliary on August 7.

Soroptimists, Service Club For Women, Organized Here; Mrs. Clarkson First President

A new organization, dedicated to public service, will be officially in action when the charter night banquet of the Soroptimist Club of Monroe County will be held on Friday night, August 1, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, at 7 o'clock.

The Soroptimist Club is an international classification service club for women in executive positions in their respective communities, organized for service. They are similar in nature to the Rotary, Kiwanis and other service clubs for men, and have a quota membership, with the number of women in the various professions limited.

The local club has been organized with Mrs. Marguerite Clarkson as the first president; other officers elected at a recent meeting included Mrs. Jean Barthold, vice president; Mrs. Ida B. Kunkle, recording secretary; Mrs. Lulu Harvey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ethel Johnson, treasurer, and Mrs. Marjorie Hamblin, Mrs. Lillian Wagner and Mrs. Florence Clark, members of the board.

The sponsoring club is the Soroptimist Club of Doylestown, which has held several meetings here explaining the work of Soroptimist and the qualifications for membership. Miss Leonor Berton, a niece of Mrs. V. S. Loder, of East Stroudsburg, has been instrumental in getting the club started.

An international association, Soroptimist International include the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs; the Federation of Soroptimist Clubs of Continental Europe and the Federation of Soroptimist Clubs of Great Britain and Ireland.

They are organized to promote friendship and service conducive to international peace; to foster loyalty to the flag and to assist in developing the highest conception of patriotism; to encourage meritorious civic movements; to encourage high ethical standards, in business and professional life; to promote the spirit of service and friendship among its members, and to foster the interchange of ideas and business methods.

Major fields of service are education, health, civic, youth and social adjustment failures to the local situation of each individual club.

On the regional and federation level, the Soroptimist sponsor the Venture Club movement among young business women to develop future leadership, through the International Understanding and Goodwill Committee, the national federation through letters, through awards and contributions to individuals for advancing the status of women throughout the world, and to groups which work for humanity such as the United Nations, the Red Cross and the Friends Service Committee.

Long-term commitments of the American Federation include promoting the appointment of women to policy-making positions with their governments and as

Old Times Relived At Gathering At Learn Home

Old schoolmates and friends who shared many memories of their childhood in Paradise Valley relived those memories at a get-together held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Learn, Wallace St., Stroudsburg.

Friends, some of whom had not seen each other for forty years, gathered at the Learn home, when they recalled many of the events and personalities of their youth; their parents and grandparents, neighbors and teachers; the tragedies and comedies they had shared.

At the close of the party Mrs. Learn served refreshments, assisted by her daughter, Martha, and her granddaughter, Dawn Marie.

The guests made tentative plans to meet again next year. They included Miss Laura Courtwright, Mrs. Eugene Price, Mr. and Mrs. George Goll and Mrs. Elizabeth Lee, of Stroudsburg; Mrs. Robert Murray and Mrs. William Geiger, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hobbs, of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. Elmer Goucher, of East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Rudolph Schubert, of Stokes Mill; Mrs. George W. Crane, of Beakville; and Mr. and Mrs. Learn and their family.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

They say that if one stands at Times Square and 42nd St. long enough, he'll see everyone in the world worth seeing. I can't verify this, but it's my personal opinion that if I work at Wyckoff's long enough I'll eventually meet all of the people worth meeting. I don't mean just celebrities either. Sometimes it's the thoughtful, friendly, everyday sort of folk who enrich you by revealing whatever is uppermost in their minds. Undoubtedly, however, an occasional celebrity does add seasoning to even the most flavorless diet.

That was the case Wednesday afternoon when John Patric was escorted to the office.

Mr. Patric is a light-hearted, serious minded, readily smiling vagabond, who is proud of the footloose life which enables him to gather pertinent facts for such best-selling books as "Repairmen May Gyp You" and "Yankee Hobo in the Orient." The latter is now in its tenth printing, and both books have been condensed in Readers Digest and other magazines the globe over, in a variety of languages. At the moment, both volumes—newly set by the author himself and bound in handsome buckram covers practically impervious to time—are being sold in our Wyckoff book department.

A native of Washington state, Mr. Patric is now drifting at the dictates will, collecting material for another of his "hobo" books. He shows in his friendly, fluent conversation, the same enthusiasm and ability to entertain that dominate his writing, making far away places and strange people spring into color before your eyes. He has worked as a printer, a salesman of real estate, rubber stamps, and cemetery plots; a newspaperman and columnist; a roving reporter for National Geographic Magazine, a dishwasher, and a mechanic.

In addition to his smile, one is intrigued by his hands and the fantastic silver ring worn on the left. A reproduction of one made of "junk metal" by a Mexican some years ago, it has an awesome face and deep eye sockets, one of which has lost its turquoise pupil. "The face," he tells you, "was much more sardonic years ago, but wear has wiped away many of the lines. It's mellowing with age."

When John Patric eventually hangs up his hat, he'll do it at Frying Pan Creek, Oregon. But as of now, he's roaming, and would probably deny even owning a hat. "I'm just a hobo," he insisted. "Just a hobo."

But such a talented one!

State To Open Bids On Bridge Approach Project On August 8

Job Involves Construction At Water Gap

Bids on a major road project which current estimates indicate may cost around $1,000,000 involving an approach to the 2,500-foot-long four-lane bridge at Delaware Water Gap, will be opened by the State Highway Department Aug. 8.

Actually, the approach project is only 1.67 miles long. However, the pavement involves many connecting links and traffic interchanges between the toll bridge plaza and its connection with Route 611 at a point on the north side of the sweeping curve near Delaware Water Gap Cemetery.

The State's approach will pick up traffic from and guide traffic to the four-lane multi-million dollar steel and concrete bridge ranging diagonally across the Delaware River to a New Jersey free-way to be constructed from below Columbia, N.J. to Kittatinny Beach.

Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission which is building the structure along with small bridge crossings at Portland and Milford, has let a contract for demolition of buildings now in the way of the bridge and toll bridge plaza. Major structures are to be down in 45 days.

The four lanes of traffic will be pouring into Route 611 at a point where the Highway Department now has a contract, prosecuted by Collins and Maxwell, Easton, Pa., involving salvage of Route 611.

The salvage project, delayed because of the steel strike has prevented removal of material purchased by the contractor from Bethlehem Steel—a road material—calls for widening the shoulders of the existing road, replacement of work concrete sections, elevation of curves and covering the whole area to Broad St., South Stroudsburg, with a blacktop surface.

Settlement of the steel strike yesterday is expected to bring about resumption of operations on Route 611's salvage project between Stroudsburg and Water Gap within a few days.

TRACTOR-TRAILER ON ITS SIDE—This heavy truck, driven by Charles Waters, Brooklyn, overturned on its side at Park and Morningside Aves., Stroudsburg, early yesterday morning after colliding with an automobile-laden convoy. (Daily Record photo)

Brake Failure At Foot Of Hill Causes Truck Accident

A truck driver who discovered he had no brakes when he reached the bottom of Foxtown hill early yesterday morning sideswiped another truck and upset at the corner of Park and Morningside Avenues in Stroudsburg causing extensive damage to his semi-trailer vehicle.

Charles Waters, 39, of Brooklyn, N. Y., told Stroudsburg police when he realized he had no braking power he expected to continue on Route 611 into a side street in direct line of the highway but saw another truck rounding Park Ave. and swerved to avoid a head-on crash.

After colliding with a truck driven by William A. Halzel, 33, of Warsaw, N. Y., Waters' truck turned over on its left side causing heavy damage to the vehicle and considerable damage to its cargo, kitchen cabinets.

Two new automobiles on the carrier of Halzel's truck, owned by Pontiac Auto Transportation Co. of Buffalo, were damaged slightly. Total damage to the Halzel vehicle was not expected to exceed $100.

Officers Jack Tretheway and Richard Wolbert of the Stroudsburg police department investigated. It was learned the brakes on Waters' truck, owned by Majestic Steel Cabinet Corp. of Brooklyn, N. Y., were not working properly and no charges were preferred by

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Baseball fans of the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area will receive another opportunity to see the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs in action today and tomorrow. Last week's opening of the circuit was crowned with success. Last Friday's encounters were played before large crowds and proved to be a financial as well as an actual success. All four teams in the circuit will be in action again today, with one contest slated for Gordon Giffels field and a second at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

The fact that Tommy Morgan is leaving the Yankees for military service may mean that another pitcher will be recalled from Kansas City, of the American Association. It is also quite possible that if and when another hurler is brought up, it will be Harry Schaeffer, who has been pitching in old-time form in recent weeks. Harry formerly pitched for the Stroudsburg Pecos and is also a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Harry hurled for the Pecos in 1946 and 1947 before being purchased by the Yankees.

Grant Nitrauer's chances of winning the Glen Brook Country Club golf championship will be hampered by an ailing back. Grant is the gentleman who recently sank a long second shot for a double-eagle on the 520-yard ninth hole at Glen Brook. Chet Ogradowski is expected to battle Harold Storm, last year's runner-up, and August "Augie" Lockitch, defending champion, for the Glen Brook crown this summer. Chet's golfing ability is highly respected by virtually everyone who has ever watched the slightly built follower of the links in action.

There's no stock car racing at Bone Stadium, in Pittston, today, due to the fact that the recent heat wave has made the racing job at the track more difficult than expected. The new surface isn't hard enough to permit racing at this time, so it was announced on Wednesday. The stock car program will be resumed on Sunday, August 3. However, stock car fans from Monroe County and surrounding territory may see their favorite races almost at home as both the Stroudsburg and West End speedways plan programs for Sunday of this week.

Ben Cardoni, manager of the Hazleton entry in the North Atlantic League for a portion of the 1949 campaign, is turning in a fine job of pitching for Albany, of the Eastern League. Used mostly in relief, Ben has compiled a record of 10 victories and only two setbacks as of last week. Cardoni has worked in 20 games, pitched 56 innings, fanned 45 batters and has a percentage reading of .833. This record is doubly surprising if baseball fans will remember that Ben was supposedly washed up while with Hazleton, as his arm had gone dead the previous season.

Basketball fans from our area who had feared that the American Basketball League had passed into history, apparently will be able to watch the circuit in action again this coming winter. Plans, in the infant stages at the present time, call for a league consisting of Wilkes-Barre, Pottsville, N. J., Carbondale, Hazleton, Elmira, Binghamton, Williamsport and probably Scranton. Eddie White, colorful figure at the helm of the Wilkes-Barre club, is given credit by many for at least attempting to save the circuit from folding.

Ronald Komp, former hurler with Lebanon, of the North Atlantic League, turned in a fine relief job for Allentown against Wilmington on Wednesday, to preserve a 12-7 victory for Jim Kirk, his ninth of the present campaign. Harley Fatzinger, the young pitcher who fell before Stroudsburg High while pitching for Catawba, qua High, in a special Lehigh Valley League playoff last spring, pitched the Caty Legion club to a 2-0 victory over Emmaus on Wednesday, while allowing only one hit.

Tomorrow's action in the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs will be in the form of a practice session for the circuit's all-star team. The all-star selections will be made tonight, as league officials and team managers race against time to field an all-star aggregation at Tanaguan on Monday. If the local Little Bigger League contingent wins on Monday, it will appear in Hazleton on Friday and possibly Saturday, of next week, in additional Little Bigger League tournament games.

This league has been on the run ever since it has been formed. The idea came to light late in the season, but those behind the circuit never faltered a second and have worked hard to make the affair a success, even though only two games have been played by both teams.

Ronson, Eagles Decision Foes
In Monroe County Softball

Ronson won a 14-6 decision over Tri-Matic, at Stroudsburg playground, while the Eagles stretched their winning streak to 15 straight by taking the measure of IAM, 13-5, at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School field, in yesterday's Monroe County Softball League action.

The Ronson club, landing its initial victory of the second half, by crumpling all its runs in three frames, scored five times in the

This league has been on the run ever since it has been formed. The idea came to light late in the season, but those behind the circuit never faltered a second and have worked hard to make the affair a success, even though only two games have been played by both teams.

Reds Divide
Bargain Bill
With Dodgers

Brooklyn (AP) — Duke Snider smashed the 100th homer of his major league career in the 11th inning yesterday to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati in the second game of a doubleheader. The Reds won the first game, 3-2.

Snider connected off relief pitcher Frank Smith with one out in the second overtime inning. The homer was Duke's 12th of the season.

Rookie righthander Ben Wade's error in the second inning led to the lone Cincinnati run. Ted Kluszewski was safe at first when Wade dropped a throw from Gil Hodges. Wade walked the next two batters to load the bases and after Andy Seminick struck out, Roy McMillan walked to force home the Red's lone run.

The Dodgers scored in the fourth on a double by Snider, a walk and Rube Walker's two-out single. In the opener, Bubba Church shut out Brooklyn until the seventh when Walker's bloop double to left scored Carl Furillo who had singled. Jackie Robinson drove in his 11th homer into the left field stands in the eighth. Meanwhile, Seminick's 10th homer off Billy Loes with one on in the sixth had decided the issue. However, Clem Labine was the losing pitcher. The Dodger starter was yanked after walking four batters or give the Reds a tally in the third.

Indians Nip
Yankees, 4-2

Cleveland (AP) — Cleveland handed Yankee pitcher Tom Morgan a 4 to 2 defeat yesterday in his last ball game before joining the army.

The Indians got to Morgan with two bases-empty home runs by Dale Mitchell and Joe Tipton, then scored two more runs off reliever Ed Lopat.

A crowd of 15,023 saw Mike Garcia register his 11th victory against seven defeats and his third straight triumph against the Yankees. Mike hurled shutout ball until the sixth inning, when Yogi Berra hit his 21st homer, tying the score at 1-1.

Berra also knocked in the Yankees' second run with a single, scoring "Hank" Bauer, who had doubled in the eighth.

In relieving Lopat was making his first appearance since July 6 and his first relief appearance since 1950. He allowed two runs in the seventh on a bases-loaded single by Johnny Berardino, following two walks and an infield hit.

Garcia struck out five and issued only one base on balls.

Falls Before
West Bangor

Portland — West Bangor scored a convincing 13-3 victory over Johnsonville in a Blue Mountain League contest played here on the home field of the Portland Apollos yesterday.

Lou Guida worked the distance on the hill for the winning club, while John Polisky and Joe Antonucci divided the pitching chore for Johnsonville, with Polisky being charged with the defeat.

Errors Hurt
West Bangor scored its 13 runs on nine hits and eight Johnsonville errors, while Johnsonville tallied three times on as many hits and two errors in the field by the West Bangor defense.

The only home run of the game was hit by Williams, of West Bangor, in the third inning with the bases empty.

West Bangor scored five times in the first four, in the second, one in the third, a singleton in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Johnsonville sent all three of its runs across the plate in the home half of the sixth frame.

Dillard Sets Hurdles Mark In Olympics

By Ted Smith
Helsinki (AP) — Harrison Dillard of Cleveland vindicated himself yesterday by winning the Olympic 110 meter hurdles four years late. Jozsef Csermak of Hungary snatched the world record in the hammer throw and Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia became the first double winner of the games.

In addition to Csermak's mighty throw of 60.53 meters 197 feet 11.67 inches five Olympic records were shattered to bring the total to 16 since track and field competition began four days ago.

Leads Mate
Dillard led Jack Davis, of Glendale, Calif., and Art Barnard, Long Beach, Calif., in a hurdle sweep, America's third, of these games, and set a new mark of 13.7.

Zatopek made another Olympic record with his time of 14:06.6 in the 5,000 meters and his pretty wife, Dana Zatopkova, created one with a javelin throw of 50.47 meters 165 feet 7.05 inches.

It was a day of personal drama unique in Olympic annals. Pretty, slim Shirley Strickland De La Hunty of Australia won the 80-meter hurdles for women as Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland, the great star of the 1948 games, tripped on the second hurdle and walked disconsolately from the track, her brilliant career near an end.

The United States now has 11 gold medals in men's track field out of 16 events — equalling the total won in the 1948 games — and everything points to an unprecedented American showing in this blue ribbon sport. Eight events remain to be decided and the USA might win two of these.

However, in the total team points for the entire games Russia held the lead with 323 and one-half against 221 for the United States. The Soviets had scored 188 in men's and women's gymnastics alone against none for America.

Field Hockey

India beat Holland, 6-1, for the field hockey championship.

Dillard's victory erased the humiliation of the 1948 American tryouts when he lost his stride in the final race and wound up leaning against the seventh hurdle. He then surprised everybody by winning the Olympic 100 meters in London four years ago.

Yesterday he came back to his first love, hurdling. Off to a perfect start he took every barrier flawlessly and led Davis to the tape by a foot.

His time of 13.7 erased the mark of 13.9 set by Bill Porter of the United States in 1948. Davis also was clocked in 13.7 and Barnard in 14.1. The United States did not score yesterday in any event except the hurdles.

"Good things come to those who wait," said Dillard with a broad grin afterwards. "I waited four long years for this one. This is the big one."

Braves Use Circuit Blows To Take Measure Of Cubs, 3-1

Giants Roll Over Cards

New York (AP) — The New York Giants blasted four St. Louis pitchers for 11 hits, including four homers, yesterday and rolled to a 9 to 5 victory as pitcher Max Lanier won his fifth game of the year.

The Cardinals had beaten Lanier the last three times he faced them, but he limited them to six hits this time.

Homers
Davey Williams, Sal Yvars, Dusty Rhodes and Bobby Thomson hit the Giant four-baggers, Yvars coming in the second inning after Rhodes had walked.

That ended the stay of pitcher Harry "The Cat" Brecheen, who was charged with his fourth defeat. St. Louis 101 000 012-5 6 0 New York 320 210 0-9 11 1

Tigers Edge Senators, 4-2

Detroit, (AP) — The sizzling bat of big Walt Dropo paced the Detroit Tigers to a 4 to 2 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday, enabling the last-place Bengals to take the series, two games to one.

Big Blow
Dropo smashed a tie-breaking two-run homer — his sixteenth this season — in the eighth inning to get over behind Fred Hatfield who had singled.

Likes Starting Role

New York, (AP) — Jim Brideweser, young utility infielder with the New York Yankees, apparently hits well only when he plays as a starter. Recently inserted as a second base replacement for injured Billy Martin, Brideweser accounted for five runs on three hits. Last September when he started in a twin bill against the Red Sox he made three hits.

Outstanding Riding

New York (AP) — Ray York, a 19-year-old freckle-faced kid born in Gloucester, Mass., turned in one of the Big Apple's outstanding riding feats recently when he won three successive races at Aqueduct. He scored with Gay Greece ($25.80), Cold Heart ($13.80) and Censorship ($5.60). York rode most of the winter in California.

Dillard Sets Hurdles Mark In Olympics

By Ted Smith
Helsinki (AP) — Harrison Dillard of Cleveland vindicated himself yesterday by winning the Olympic 110 meter hurdles four years late. Jozsef Csermak of Hungary smashed the world record in the hammer throw and Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia became the first double winner of the games.

In addition to Csermak's mighty throw of 60.53 meters 197 feet 11.67 inches five Olympic records were shattered to bring the total to 16 since track and field competition began four days ago.

Leads Mate
Dillard led Jack Davis, of Glendale, Calif., and Art Barnard, Long Beach, Calif., in a hurdle sweep, America's third, of these games, and set a new mark of 13.7.

Zatopek made another Olympic record with his time of 14:06.6 in the 5,000 meters and his pretty wife, Dana Zatopkova, created one with a javelin throw of 50.47 meters 165 feet 7.05 inches.

It was a day of personal drama unique in Olympic annals.
Pretty, slim Shirley Strickland De La Hunt of Australia won the 80-meter hurdles for women as Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland, the great star of the 1948 games, tripped on the second hurdle and walked disconsolately from the track, her brilliant career near an end.

The United States now has 11 gold medals in men's track field out of 16 events — equaling the total won in the 1948 games—and everything points to an unprecedented American showing in this blue ribbon sport. Eight events remain to be decided and the USA might win two of these.

However, in the total team points for the entire games Russia held the lead with 323 and one-half against 221 for the United States. The Soviets had scored 188 in men's and women's gymnastics alone against none for America.

Field Hockey

India beat Holland, 6-1, for the field hockey championship.

Dillard's victory erased the humiliation of the 1948 American tryouts when he lost his stride in the final race and wound up leaning against the seventh hurdle. He then surprised everyone by winning the Olympic 100 meters in London four years ago.

Yesterday he came back to his first love, hurdling. Off to a perfect start he took every barrier flawlessly and led Davis to the tape by a foot.

His time of 13.7 erased the mark of 13.9 set by Bill Porter of the United States in 1948. Davis also was clocked in 13.7 and Barnard in 14.1. The United States did not score yesterday in any event except the hurdles.

"Good things come to those who wait," said Dillard with a broad grin afterwards. "I waited four long years for this one. This is the big one."

Braves Use Circuit Blows To Take Measure Of Cubs, 3-1

Boston, (AP) — Homers by rookie Ed. Matthews and Sid Gordon gave the Boston Braves a 3-1 victory yesterday although the Chicago Cubs outthrew them by a 13-8 margin.

Jim Wilson chalked up his 10th pitching win but he had to be helped by Lew Burdette. The latter came in after two Cubs had hit safely in the ninth inning. Burdette forced Ed Miksis to pop out on an attempted sacrifice. Frank Baumholtz singled to fill the bases but the Tribesmen ended the game by executing their third double play.

Long Drive
Matthews clouted his 16th homer of the season off Turk Lown in the first inning but the Cubs evened the count in the third. With the bases loaded and one out, Miksis filed to deep center to score Bill Sereno.

Gordon homered in the bottom of the third to break the deadlock and in the fifth Matthews counted the third Boston run after Walker Cooper doubled to right-center, Chicago 001 000 000—1 13 0 Boston 001 010 000—3 8 0

Pale Hose Blank Red Sox, 3-0
Chicago (AP) — Lou Kretlow fashioned his first victory of the season yesterday twirling a two-hit shutout as the Chicago White Sox shelled the Boston Red Sox 3 to 0. Kretlow has lost one.

Home
Faye Thronberry beat out a punt to open the third inning but was erased in a double play as Kretlow retired 16 men in order before Don DiMaggio walked with two down in the eighth.

The White Sox combined two hits with two Boston errors to get two runs off Paul "Dizzy" Trout in the third inning.
Boston 000 000 000—0 2 3 Chicago 000 000 010—3 7 1

Tigers Edge Senators, 4-2
Detroit, (AP) — The sizzling bat of big Walt Dropo paced the Detroit Tigers to a 4 to 2 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday, enabling the last-place Bengals to take the series, two games to one.

Big Blow
Dropo smashed a tie-breaking two-run homer, his sixteenth this season—in the eighth inning to score behind Fred Hatfield who had singled.

County Seeks Prices On CD Radio Equipment; Air Force Inspectors Okay Observer Setup

A Civil Defense radio network for Monroe County moved a step closer to reality yesterday when commissioners ordered Clerk Harry Taylor to obtain prices on equipment for the courthouse station.

The equipment in question will include a 3,000-watt emergency generator and a radio transmitter-receiver.

When the CD job is done, CD frequency radio beams will lace the county's 10 zones together even in the event that telephone communication is disrupted by disaster or air raid.

In addition, it will be possible to keep in touch with adjoining counties and with police.

Col. Harry Serfass, head of the Ground Observer Corps in Monroe, said yesterday Air Force inspectors had taken a look at the county GOC set-up and pronounced it satisfactory—at least insofar as paper plans went.

The Air Force men indicated the Monroe GOC plan was what the Doctor ordered, but the over-all plan calls for operation of the 10 posts on a 24-hour basis.

GOC would like a minimum 120 volunteers available daily in order to put two volunteers on together at each post for a four-hour shift.

At present, only half the needed volunteers are available Col. Serfass said.

The Air Force man put it this way: "I've been working with the radar net all over the country. We already have 100 per cent coverage over the United States above 5,000 feet. But under 5,000, our coverage is zero. That's why we need—have absolutely got to have—ground observers. We need them especially badly in mountainous country like this."

The inspector added that telephones which have been requisitioned by the Air Force for GOC use in local posts have already started to come in, and Monroe County's may be expected shortly.

At present, observers are relying on use of private phones, and calling the filter center in Harrisburg collect when they spot a plane of any description in the area.

Use of Air Force-owned phones is expected to save the county about $75 a month in telephone service costs.
